

BOUNDARIES OF HOME:
Mapping for Local Empowerment

Edited by Doug Aberley

Sixth in
THE NEW CATALYST
Bioregional Series of books

More than 15 contributors introduce a wide range of home-grown, creative maps that show more than roads or political boundaries—water and air flow, commuting patterns, distribution of species, local history. The heart of Boundaries of Home is a step-by-step description of how to use accessible sources—from libraries to oral histories to sophisticated computers—to compile truly empowering images of one's home place.

Doug Aberley is a long-time map-maker, bioregionalist and town-planner for Hazelton, B.C., now pursuing a doctorate in Edinburgh.

Big Thinkers.

Wild

Thoughts.

Wild Earth, the biocentric conservation quarterly, features sections on biodiversity, conservation strategy, wilderness proposals, population problems, land ethics, and editorials from some of this planet's most important thinkers: Wendell Berry, Monte Hummel, Dolores LaChapelle, Bill McKibben, Farley Mowat, Gary Snyder, and many others.

An independent voice within the New Conservation Movement, Wild Earth champions the cause of preservation of biodiversity and wildlands. Edited by Dave Foreman and John Davis. Published by the non-profit Cenozoic Society.
